

THE PLAN – PART III

We've traced how the political organization of the New World Order, the Kingdom of Antichrist is falling into place. In this segment we'll begin to look at some of the behind-the-scenes' string-pulling.

AN OPEN CONSPIRACY

“Why do the nations conspire and the peoples plot in vain? The kings of the earth take their stand and the rulers gather together against the LORD and against his Anointed One.” (Psalm 2:1-2)

“Some of the biggest men in the United States, in the field of commerce and manufacture, are afraid of something. They know that there is a power somewhere so organized, so subtle, so watchful, so interlocked, so complete, that they better not speak above their breath when they speak in condemnation of it”. (Woodrow Wilson, The New Freedom, 1913)<sup>1</sup>

British socialist and author, HG Wells dubbed it “The Open Conspiracy”. He was referring to the networked inevitability that surrounds and defines power today, in the US, and in Britain, and elsewhere in the West. It is a ‘system’ of interlocked men of influence that is advancing the cause of world socialism, - for their own purposes, - but also because they have been indoctrinated into believing it is the right thing to do. It includes, Democrats and Socialists and Communists and liberal university types, - but also Republicans and bankers and industrialists and entrepreneurs. What began as a conspiratorial plot advanced by the likes of Cecil Rhodes has devolved into a “Network of Power” feeding off of its own twisted ethic. Dr Dennis Cuddy tells us it began as a group of “like-minded globalists ... in key positions in politics, economics, education and journalism”, but it has advanced and taken hold, so this “conspiracy was no longer necessary”. It remains now as an independent “global network of power elite pursuing world government” for its own sake.<sup>2</sup> The conspiracy part is no longer necessary. It feeds off of its own misguided, utopian, power-grabbing dreams.

Rhodes' group came in to formal existence in 1891, as a gathering of the elite of the elite of the British Empire. Founding member William Stead later explained its purposes: A “society copied from the Jesuits” that would end all war, uniting the globe under a universal language by “gradually absorbing the wealth of the world” in pursuit of a “government of the whole world”.<sup>3</sup> To that end the prestigious Rhodes Scholarships were established, to train a class of ‘world servants’ to carry the torch of this globalist vision into the future. The most famous of the recent class of Rhodes Scholars is of course former President Bill Clinton, - but many dozens have occupied positions of extreme influence. Now the plan they hatched was not unique. It became the dream of many, operating from several centers of power. It was but the marriage of socialism and capitalism; - what has become known in modern parlance as the Third Way; - with such modern proponents as Britain's former Prime Minister Tony Blair and President Clinton. In fact it was actually tried before in the Germany of the 1930's & 40's, where Hitler oversaw a brand of socialism organized on a national basis; - and established to advance nationalist ends. [It's rather remarkable that the Nazi experiment was viewed at first by many occult and illuminati types as possibly the onset of the New Age. It was only later that they deemed Hitler to be of the school of ‘black witchcraft’ as opposed to the ‘white witchcraft’ favored by the likes of Alice Bailey and the Theosophists. Still, Bailey considered Hitler part of the “Shamballa Force”. Other New Agers signaled their approval too, with Savitri Devi Mukherjee, a French convert to Hinduism, calling the brutal Nazi dictator “the greatest European of all times” and founding a movement that survives in India to this day.<sup>4</sup> But all of this is another story.]

HG Wells explained the 'plot' as the synthesis of the two systems. Governments would rise and fall but the bureaucracies would remain in place to steer the course, making the political figureheads somewhat, - and increasingly irrelevant.<sup>5</sup> The ethic of the One World and progressive globalization has become the underlying ethic of the ruling class. The idea of a New World Order has become a natural 'way of thought'. Just look at any of the serious candidates that have sought the nomination of Democrats or Republicans in the last several elections. Almost all are members of, or have sought the approval of something called the Council on Foreign Relations. The CFR is the establishment arm that informs and indoctrinates the movers and shakers of America. It is the driving philosophical force behind the State Department's career diplomats. Even would-be conservative politicians have looked for its nod of approval and respectability by publishing their policy articles in the pages of its periodicals. (Perhaps this year's most incongruous entry is Baptist Minister / Politician / Governor of Arkansas and presidential candidate Mike Huckabee. But don't despair Huckabee supporters, - he is not alone. The CFR periodical is the common currency of the American presidential candidate.)

The CFR is the American counterpart of the London based Royal Institute of International Affairs, (RIIA), which was formed after the First World War. But representatives of American economic power were present even from the beginning. The British group, guided by Lord Milner, was in close relationship with both Morgan and Carnegie interests. By 1921, political string-puller and Wall Street layer, Elihu Root managed the merger of the RIIA with the American CFR. It soon emerged as the guiding voice behind Anglo-American policy.<sup>6</sup> Even CFR member, award winning historian Arthur Schlesinger, as well as CFR researcher Professor Carroll Quigley have referred to the organization as but a "front" for the powers-that-be. [It is for instance, the Council that provides the intellectual justification behind the move toward a North American Union.] Now, it is this Professor Quigley that has led the drive to reveal the depths of this 'Open Conspiracy'. A 1975 article about him in the Washington Post was entitled "The Professor Who Knew Too Much". It was Quigley who first exposed the depth and interlocking nature of the relationships between economic and political sources of power. It was the industrialists and the banking elites, beginning in the 19th century that formed and still drives this power base.

In was in the fading years of that century that a plan was hatched under the auspices of William C Whitney, to take control of both major political parties using financial contributions and control the Presidency. According to the Professor, the plan was in effect about 16 years, and after that the candidates of both parties were "moved...toward the political center". Besides relieving the nation of dealing with that messy democratic-republic-thing, the other service that Whitney provided his country was to elevate the influence of Yale University's Skull & Bones Society.<sup>7</sup> Its members, - along with the Rhodes Scholars began to show up in every important position of power in the nation, - again promoting the agenda of the elite. Of course, both Presidents Bush were members of that secret society along with scores of the nation's elites.

This contrived system ended up putting in power the major cultural change agents of the last century: HG Wells, economist John Maynard Keynes and the Father of Modern Education John Dewey among them. Take education for instance. Through the influence of Dewey and the denizens of the NEA, the purpose of education, - at the macro-level, - became not the education of children, - but the transformation of the culture. Charlotte Iserbyt, a former member of the Reagan era Department of Education uncovered the plan that has changed American education beginning with Dewey's influence in the early part of the 20th century. In a previous series we documented how the educational elite, - (firmly committed to New Age / One World values), - put a new system in place that employed a "psychology based curriculum" to transform the beliefs and values of the dominant culture. One high National Education Association (NEA) official admitted as far back as 1947 in the NEA Journal that the new purpose of education was to lay the "foundations for wider loyalties...which will result ultimately in the creation of a world citizenship and world government". A 1990 report was one of many that reaffirmed the goal; - to 'establish the one world agenda with the United Nations as its center'.<sup>8</sup>

If we want to see where this is going we need only look at the words of the Peacemaker's Planetary Anthem, - sung to the tune of the Star Spangled Banner, - at an elementary school assembly in Sunnyvale, California.

"Oh Say can you see by the one light in all

A New Age to embrace at the call of the nations"

It goes on ad nauseum promoting a collective consciousness and general one-worldism. Christian researcher and author Berit Kjos tells us of one Rescue Mission Planet Earth, that uses teachers to turn students anger against their parents and elders to motivate (in Kjos' words) "political action on behalf of the United Nations and planet Earth".<sup>9</sup> Al Gore goes even farther, shaking off the country's Christian roots in advocating a "panreligious perspective" in the effort to revolutionize the "relationship" between we evil humans and our Earth Mother.<sup>10</sup>

Even a casual reading of the literature of 'Big Education' reveals more of their agenda. One report talks about addressing "root causes" of the world's problems. The "root causes" referred to would be any traditional values or beliefs that might question or threaten the globalist agenda. A UNESCO paper declares "Tolerance involves the rejection of dogmatism and absolutism". So God & societal morality, and even absolute Truth is taken out of the schools. There can be none of that in this emerging brave new world. There is even a United Nations plan for mental health that will get everybody thinking on the right track; - and one to prepare "human resources" for a "global workforce".<sup>11</sup> It is all operating rather openly for anyone who cares to see.

So we can see the pattern here too. Education, like economics and currencies and even national borders are to increasingly become subject to supra-national control: Thus the EU, and the coming North American Union, and the Amero and UNESCO and the United Nations mental health plan, and gun control and international control of the seas and the environment. It is a plan for international fascism. And do not take comfort in the fact that perhaps a Republican president may reverse the trend. The compassionate conservatism of President Bush has surrendered to the new ethic in many areas. His soft stand on illegal immigration could have the long-term effect of compromising our sovereignty and preparing us for a North American Union, as the borders become increasingly irrelevant. His support with Congress of the Law of the Sea Treaty would give the UN increasing control over American commerce. And the No Child Left Behind plan, - no matter the fact that it may have been conceived benignly and in good faith, - is but a thinly disguised national system that will eventually place control of the schools in the hands of unelected politically-correct councils with the power to overrule parental control.<sup>12</sup> While some may slow the bleeding, I see no viable candidate right now that can reverse the trends set in place by decades of open conspiracy. But it is both that effective and moral leadership that is needed.

Still we are required to fight for the right, and commanded to "put on the whole armour of God...and having done all, to stand". (Ephesians 6:13) This will not be an easy struggle. We know that we face a determined enemy that is committed to creating a global government. We face a time of increasing chaos in its birthing. One of their chief spokesman, HG Wells, predicted the chaos that would visit the coming end of the nation state. He wrote, "countless people...will hate the new world order...and will die protesting against it". Scripture tells us they will for a time succeed. But the Bible also tells us that in the end, our God will triumph. This is but a vain rebellion against The Most High God. "He who sits in the heavens shall laugh; The Lord shall hold them in derision." The Father declared: "I have set My King on My holy hill of Zion". He will give Him "The nations for Your inheritance, And the ends of the earth for Your possession." As for God's enemies: Christ will "break them with a rod of iron". (Psalm 2:6, 8-9)

INCOHERENCE

The “state of Palestine is long overdue”, intoned President Bush on his visit to the Middle East this last week. “The Palestinians deserve it. And it will enhance the stability of the region”, said he. And I asked myself what strange flight from rationality could have motivated the President and Prime Minister Olmert to believe that turning over, - what is reported now as 92% of Judea and Samaria, - to Palestinians committed to the destruction of Israel. Make no mistake. Palestine will be a terror state and its population will waste no time in launching new attacks against Israel. Once the IDF vacated Gaza, forcing out the Jewish population, - it took them only hours to begin rocketing areas that had previously been out of their range. Israeli retreat will only provide the platform for more such attacks.

Still the plans of the two leaders continued apace. And these words of the President, - a Christian President, - nearly leapt off the page at me. “There should be an end to the occupation that began in 1967.” Mr Bush had dubbed the Israeli’s ‘OCCUPIERS’ in the land that God gave them, - in the land that the Balfour Declaration envisioned for them, - in the land originally set aside for them by the international community, (before the oil became a factor in the years between the World Wars). Then he called for this Palestine, (the land of the people that did not exist 50 years ago), - to be “viable, contiguous, sovereign and independent”. Those are the code words for a Palestinian State that will itself be undivided – but in that very process, divide Israel. It would give the terrorists bases on the very border of the heavy Israeli population centers of the coastal plain. If it is truly peace that they seek, it is a work of insanity. And add this insanity: Israel’s Channel Ten reports that the basis of a deal has already been struck involving the return of 50,000 Arab refugees to Israel proper, - the Right of Return. Only opposition leader Benyamin Netanyahu offers the rational. Jerusalem shall not be divided, says he.

Isaiah 34 describes a time at the End of Days, when God will judge the nations, unleashing His fury. It declares “the day of the LORD’s vengeance, The year of recompense for the cause of Zion” and “a great slaughter in the land of Edom” (Palestine). Of Palestine it says: “They shall call its nobles to the kingdom, But none shall be there, and all its princes shall be nothing”. (Isaiah 34:8, 6, 12)<sup>13 14 15 16</sup>

YADAS

ISOLATING IRAN – President Bush’s Middle East trip is about building support for a peace based on the establishment of a Palestinian State. But don’t lose sight of the fact that it is also about the political and diplomatic isolation of Iran. That’s why we see “smart bombs” heading to the Saudis, (ahead of a little pressure / begging to keep down oil prices), and even smarter bombs promised to Israel. The President’s trip has already raised fears in the region, with both Egypt and Turkey warning against a strike on Iran.<sup>17</sup> Sides are being chosen. Reports say that Mr Bush assured Israel that the military option remains on the table.<sup>18</sup>

MARK STUFF – The British government is planning to forcibly implant RFID microchips into thousands in the UK penal system. The prisoners whereabouts would then be tracked by GPS satellites.<sup>19</sup>

THE TERROR FRONT –Scotland Yard is reporting that al-Qaeda has recruited about 1,500 native Brits as terrorists. Harder to detect than Arabs & Asians, some are calling this force the “White Army of Terror”.<sup>20</sup>
