

MARCHING TOWARD A 'NEW ORDER'

Whether by a convergence of the accidental force of the natural laws of economics and societies, - or through the long-term planning of an interested elite: The world we live in is fast reordering itself along new lines. A survey of the evidence makes for interesting reading. In mid-month, stories surfaced that all the dire talk of a by Treasury Secretary Bernake and Fed Chair Paulson, of a 'credit crunch', - may have been, - to say the least, a bit overblown. That type of panicked talk was used as the justification for massive government intervention in the form of that $700 billion bailout rammed through Congress. Some members of the House were even warned of the possibility that America would be put under martial law, if action was not immediately forthcoming. But the credit crisis may not even have been real. A report by CELENT, maintains that the Bernake's and Paulson's characterization of the depth of the alleged crisis was "not supported or are flatly contradicted by the data provided by the very organizations they lead".^{1 2} These two were claiming that the system had "seized up", that 'credit markets had "froze"', and that bank-to-bank lending was "substantially reduced". It was just not true. And while a significant number of the US's leading institutions were in trouble, there was not necessarily a problem for "credit markets in the aggregate". In fact, the introduction of all that new bailout money into the system may have actually triggered a new and worrisome danger; - hyperinflation. The supply of new dollars has increased by 74% in less than three months. That kind of expansion would usually take place over a decade. CELENT then concludes that the real crisis is the possibility not so much of a depression but instead of a "hyperinflationary period comparable to the Weimar Republic in 1922".³ During that incredible time, German citizens would head to market with wheelbarrows full of marks in order to buy just a few loaves of bread. The fact is, the bailout may have contributed to the severity of the economic crisis that is now sweeping the globe.

Meanwhile the bad news keeps coming in. Jim Rogers, one of the world's leading investors claims most of the big US banks are "totally bankrupt". He correctly views the government moves re: Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac, etc, - as a nationalization of the country's mortgage system.⁴ Now the government seems to be getting into the car business. First there'll be a short-term bailout under Bush. Following, the Obama Administration will bring with it the likelihood of more taxpayer dollars and increased government control. Despite all that federal action, some experts are now talking openly about the next wave of financial blows that will materialize in 2009. They expect massive job losses leading to foreclosures that could force 1 million families from their homes.⁵ On the World front, the head of the International Monetary Fund (IMF), is calling for even more government intervention to head off a long financial downturn.⁶ Increased government control is just the formula that the Irish Government is putting in place. They're investing 5.5 billion euros into their three largest banks. But the government will now set the bank's lending policies, - and the Irish state will get voting rights in those financial institutions.⁷ Meanwhile in the United State, incoming President Obama said that he wants to 'spread financial oversight far beyond the banking system'. His aides let it be known that those firms seeking federal money will be the first ones to come under the new regulatory structure.⁸ As one Obama operative suggested, 'crisis brings opportunity', and that opportunity is coming in the form of increasing government control. The other side of that coin of course, is increasing international control. Dutch Foreign Minister Maxime Verhagen, - an associate of the Bildebergs, - openly declared “we need an international order...designed to impose order and prevent or resolve conflict and chaos”.⁹ That’s just the formula the Antichrist will bring to solve the world’s problems. And at that time the world will embrace his solution of “peace and safety” that will ultimately bring “destruction”. (1Thess 5:3) Daniel 8:25 tells us of the Antichrist that he, “by peace shall destroy many”. The Antichrist will rise to power through a time of chaos.

So today we see the whole world preparing for a coming chaos. Both national governments and international institutions are gearing up. We’ve covered before how the Pentagon has plans to deploy as many as 20,000 troops in the United States, preparing them to operate against the American in times of ‘domestic unrest’.¹⁰ The first combat hardened brigade arrived just months ago. All across the globe, many are predicting that trouble is just around the corner. Dominique Strauss-Kahn, a Director of the IMF, warned of the coming of “social unrest” especially in “advanced economies” such as Europe and the US. Proven forecaster and futurist Gerald Celente, predicts that the US will move toward becoming an “undeveloped” economy over the next several years. And now the Army War College is preparing to deal with “Widespread civil violence”, possibly arising out the deteriorating economic conditions. They fear that some sort of “strategic shock”, - such as another major terror event, - could result in the use of “military force against hostile groups inside the United States”. The Pentagon also believes that domestic unrest could force the rapid withdrawal of American troops abroad “in order to address rapidly expanding human insecurity at home”. The Pentagon report goes on to detail their expectations of what the World Tribune characterizes as “massive unrest”.^{11 12} That preparations mania is spreading from the national military to state and local law enforcement agencies. In Arizona for instance, the Phoenix Business Journal recently carried a story on how the State and local police forces there already have plans in place to “deal with social unrest, including trouble resulting from economic distress”.¹³

Government on all levels is taking this financial situation and its implications very seriously indeed. The US Navy and the Office of the Secretary of Defense, for instance are sponsoring a “Rethinking Seminar” that addresses many of the global crisis looming on the horizon. One of the problems being looked at is the enormous amount of control the Chinese can exercise over the US economy. They hold over $500 billion in US Treasury bonds. In effect they are propping up the American economy. They are loaning us the money to buy their goods. It gives them enormous influence over financial policies such as interest and exchange rates. And now the Fed is basically just printing money, - and many are surprised that the dollar has not already collapsed. We are saved in the short term by the fact that a viable currency alternative does not now exist. Yet moves are already being made to create one. If the right currency is established to challenge it, the value of the dollar may quickly implode. A collapsing dollar would bring higher interest rates and deflation, throwing millions of Americans out of work. Surveying this situation, James Rickards, an advisor to the Director of National Intelligence, believes that effects of the building financial crisis will be deeper and broader than many analysts are now saying. He sees a 35% decline in America’s gross domestic product over the next half-dozen years with unemployment that reaches 15%.¹⁴ Those are depression level numbers.

Add to that one more voice, that of the very accurate folks at LEAP 20/20. They’ll tell you that bad things are on the horizon for the coming year. This European think tank has an 86% accuracy rating when it comes to “socio-economic anticipations”. They see big trouble for the Western nations, - especially the United States. Their most recent report speaks of an “unfolding systemic crisis” that will hit about March of 2009, bringing

“a new tipping point similar in magnitude to the September 2008 one.” The trigger will be a “great psychological trauma... when everyone will realize that we are all trapped into a crisis worse than in the 1930’s”. It is at that point, LEAP believes, that the world will understand the depth of the hole that it is in. The long duration of the financial downturn will become apparent. At the same time there will be an “explosion of unemployment worldwide”. Add to that the fact that pension plans across the globe will be facing imminent collapse. Governments will feel forced to nationalize those funds, as Argentina recently did. From that point, according to LEAP, recovery will be slow. For Asia and parts of Europe this recovery will not begin until at least the end of 2010. The US and Great Britain could hover in this Depression mode for a full decade.¹⁵

No one can say if this crisis that we are now facing will be the one that sets the stage for the emergence of the Antichrist. We do know however from their own writings, that the forces that desire World Government, are planning to foment a series of global crisis that will bring the entire planet into chaos. Wars in the Middle East, - between China and Taiwan, - and a nuclear crisis on the Korean Peninsula are all part of their agenda. So too is a stock market collapse. They outlined this back in 1981. It is out of this engineered confusion that the New Age Messiah will emerge, borne to power by the enthusiasms of a world that has had its fill of war and societal and financial collapse. Despite the fact that we cannot know its ultimate outcome, we can see through this economic turmoil, the outlines of the coming world order. Forces and structures are being put in place to receive the world’s messiah. A desire for peace and security will motivate people to accept just about any level of control from a planetary government that will just bring peace.

Jesus spoke to his disciples about this time that would just precede his return. Famines, pestilences, earthquakes, wars and rumors were all just the set up, - the “beginning of sorrows” (Matthew 24:8), but that is not the end. Then comes a time of betrayal and persecution, - false prophets and false christs “showing great signs and wonders to deceive, if possible even the elect”. (Matthew 24:24) This is the time of the Tribulation. It is also known as the Day of the Lord and it “so comes as a thief in the night. For when they say ‘Peace and safety!’, then suddenly destruction comes upon them, as labor pains upon a pregnant woman. And they shall not escape.” (1Thessalonians 5:2-4) Paul goes on to assure us that as believers, we “are not in darkness, so that this Day should overtake you as a thief”. (1Thessalonians 5:4) We are to know the season of His return. “Now learn a parable of the fig tree; When his branch is yet tender, and putteth forth leaves, ye know that summer is nigh: So likewise ye, when ye shall see all these things, know that it is near, even at the doors. Verily I say unto you, This generation shall not pass, till all these things be fulfilled.” (Matthew 24:32-34) It seems we may very well be that generation!

We are now witnessing those first labor pains. Israel is in the land. The prophetic template is fast being fleshed out. But our focus should not be on the tribulation hour, though hard times will surely come. Instead we look for the Rapture of the believing Church. That will be followed by the return of Christ Himself. “And then shall appear the sign of the Son of man in heaven: and then shall all the tribes of the earth mourn, and they shall see the Son of man coming in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory.” (Matthew 24:30) And then we’ll get to see the REAL NEW WORLD ORDER – God’s Kingdom on Earth!

BAD NEWS / GOOD NEWS

Cindie Palaszewski

*I'd like to share something. A couple of Saturday's ago we received some bad news. A dear friend of ours died of a sudden, massive heart attack. John was a talented musician we knew for over 20 years. Just the Sunday before his death I spoke with John on the phone. He seemed so happy about moving to East Aurora. He was finally going to be closer to work and more importantly to his 20 yr old son Matt. The news of John's passing not only brought us tremendous sorrow but we were totally shocked over the suddenness of it all. In light of that, I thought this would be a great opportunity to share with you The Gospel of Jesus Christ.

The word Gospel means Good News.

And here's the good news: God sent Jesus to be born in a lowly stable, to live humbly before mankind, then to die on a cross for our sins. Now why is this good news some may ask? I'll tell you why.....

God created man to have free will to love Him, but man having this free will, chose to sin against God. That sin would forever distance us from a Holy God. Yet our God had a wonderful plan devised—He would become a man and offer up Himself as a sacrifice for our sins.

God has done His part to save us. We need to do our part now. Remember, we have free will, so we have a choice to make.

Jesus said, in the Bible in John 3:3, “...unless one is born again, he cannot see the Kingdom of God.” That means to be spiritually born again. For this to happen we need to turn our lives over to Jesus. We have to trust in Him and believe He took the penalty for our sins by dying on the cross. Then ask Him to forgive us and try to sin no more. That's it! It really is that simple. But it is the most important decision you will ever make.

This life we are living averages about 70 years or so. What really counts is where we will live for all eternity. Think about this: We are all but a heartbeat away from finding out.

My prayer for you, is that today, right this minute you decide to receive this gift from God and say “Yes this is very Good News!”

YEAH, WE NEED HELP!

This ministry is embarking on several projects that we hope to unveil in the immediate future. We are in need of seed money to get a book project completed and sent to the printer.
