

STIMULUS ANYONE ?

Whether it really is a stimulus package or not I cannot say, but in any case, as we go to press, President Obama's legislation received approval by the Senate and now awaits agreement between the houses to become law. The President has been claiming that it is just what is needed to jump-start the economy. But one wonders.

First of all, it will cost about $800 billion in borrowed funds, further putting pressure on the dollar. So we're depending on those Chinese to continue buying up those T-Bills to finance our way of life. And they're already looking elsewhere for better investments. The Congressional Budget Office concedes that there would be some short-term job growth, but that by 2011 the effects on employment would be miniscule. And by 2019 it would have a negative effect by actually reducing GDP by up to .3%.¹ But not to worry! That's well after the mid-term and next presidential elections.

Then there's the content of the bill itself. It's hard to know just what will survive the conference committee but here are some of the proposals that have seen light in the various House and Senate versions:

- $335 million for education on sexually transmitted diseases (STDs)
- $650 million for digital TV coupons
- $50 million for the National Endowment of the Arts. That's the organization that financed the dipping of a crucifix into a bottle of urine.
- $2 billion for child care subsidies
- $650 million for the US Forest Service to remove fish passages etc.
- $70 to help people quit smoking
- $6.9 billion to reduce carbon emissions
- And on and on and on.....^{2 3}

Then there is the fact that the stimulus, combined with the bailout, are both moving the country toward unadulterated socialism. $50 billion is being proposed for a federal health records system with a National Coordinator for Health Information Technology, a move toward total government control and a European model of socialized medicine. Former Senator Daschle, who was to head of Health and Human Services is a supporter of the European system where health care is rationed and seniors often denied treatment on the basis of cost-benefit analysis. It's determined that they won't live long enough to get bang for their buck, - so they're turned down for more expensive treatments. It's the government making those decisions.⁴ Then there is the monetary cost. Even without the new legislation the deficit was estimated at $1.2 trillion. Then add an additional $790 billion to that; - all to be paid for by future generations.⁵ In fact Bloomberg estimates that the US has already committed $9.7 trillion to dealing with the financial crisis...with no end in sight.⁶

WELL...THAT SETTELED NOTHING

Israeli voters went to the polls last Tuesday and spoke their mind, - only they hadn't really made it up yet. In a bit of a surprise the Kadima party took 28 seats in early voting while former Prime Minister Netanyahu's Likud garnered 27, - down from estimates of a few weeks ago. So is that a victory for more centrist rule, for more land giveaways to the Palestinians, for the 2 state solution? Not quite. While current Foreign Minister Tzipi Livni starts with the most seats in the 120 member Knesset, the parties of the center and left actually lost ground. The rightest, nationalist bloc will sit about 64 strong in the next assembly, - more than enough to form a government. Now there are 34 parties on the ballot this year, and they are apportioned seats according to the percentage of votes they get. You vote for a list of party members. With soldiers votes still to be counted, - so the results could change a bit, - both Livni and Bibi Netanyahu are scrambling to form a government. Netanyahu declared, "With God's help I will lead the next government". And despite the slight fall in the polls he may be right. The kingmaker role in Israeli politics right now has fallen to Avigdor Lieberman, the leader of the relatively new party called Israel Beitenu who tentatively took 15 seats running on a platform that called for Israeli Arabs to take a loyalty oath and be compelled to national service from which they are now exempt. While both Livni and Netanyahu are courting Lieberman, - and he says he is open to talking to both, - he also says, "We want a right wing government. That's our wish and we don't hide it." And that would be a nod to Netanyahu.

The next Prime Minister will have 45 days to form a government after the election is certified next week. A government headed by Livni would seem to be more in line with President Obama's policies. It would probably mean continued negotiations toward more Israeli withdrawals and the establishment of a Palestinian State. The caretaker Olmert government of which Livni is a part, has been showing its true colors in the way that it is negotiating away any gains made in the recent fight with Hamas. The terror group has offered nothing in return for a handful of concessions. In fact they continue to lob rockets into Israel. The Israelis for their part have given safe passage to Hamas leaders, stopped targeting terror chiefs, increasingly allowed certain freights to enter Gaza, promised Egypt that it will end the naval blockade and it seems will allow Hamas control of the border crossings. On the other side, the AP's Steven Gutkin believes that a Likud government would be on a "collision course" with the US. Netanyahu has promised the destruction of Hamas, expanded West Bank settlements and may feel inclined to deal with the Iranian nuclear issue militarily. He has also come out strongly against concessions on the Golan Heights and the partition of Jerusalem.^{7 8 9 10} We're not likely to really see who the winner is for weeks.

ON THE IRANIAN FRONT

Well we've seen quite a few developments with regard to Iran in the last weeks, - and some of them leave us scratching our head in wonder. Of great significance is the revelation that Tehran launched its first spy satellite using a three-stage ballistic missile running on solid fuel. While the satellite will be used for telecommunications purposes, it signals that Iran is now capable of delivering a nuclear payload across long distances. Recent reports have suggested that Iran will be able to produce its own weapons by the end of this year. And this newsletter has reported that the Russian General Baluyevsky let slip back in 2002 that Iran had acquired nuclear capability in some limited form; - likely bought off the shelf from AQ Khan in Pakistan.^{11 12 13}

In the meantime, an Iranian ship filled with components for offensive missiles and materiel used for the construction of warheads was stopped and unloaded by Cypriot authorities. These are just a part of ten Iranian vessels that have been dispatched by the Tehran regime to provide military aid to Hamas.¹⁴ Yet as Iran continues to feed the terror monster and pursues its own homegrown nuclear capabilities, the West colludes with them, - acting it seems against their own best interests. The Wall Street journal reports that German firms have a 4 billion euro trade going with Tehran that includes 39 dual use contracts;- that's for goods that can be used for civilian or military purposes. The German firm Siemens has a 438 million euro relationship with Iran that included delivering "state-of-the-art communications surveillance technology" just last spring. This from a country with a history of ties to the Nazi machine in World War II that included the use of Jewish forced labor from the Auschwitz extermination camp. Ties in nicely it seems with the anti-Semitic rants of President Ahmadinejad of Iran. And this is not a rogue company. Chancellor Merkel supports Iranian trade with 250 million euros in credit guarantees.¹⁵ Finally there's this. NATO announced that it was approving deals with Iran to supply coalition forces fighting alongside American forces in Afghanistan.¹⁶ Thus is Iran and even ally Russia emerging as the winners from the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan. Moscow's position will be significantly strengthened when American troops complete their withdrawal from Iraq. And Tehran continues to dis the new American President, despite overtures from Mr Obama to get talks started on a number of issues. It refused visas to the visiting women's badminton team, shunned the House Foreign Affairs Committee Chairman, who is Jewish and refused to meet with Obama's envoy Dennis Ross, - because he too is a Jew. Despite these blatant humiliations, the President continues to seek negotiations with Iran. As columnist Caroline Glick opined in the Jerusalem Post: In just a few short weeks, "President Barack Obama has managed to weaken the perception of American power and embolden US adversaries throughout the world".¹⁷

BUILDING THE TEN KINGDOMS

"The ten horns which you saw are ten kings who have received no kingdom as yet, but they receive authority for one hour as kings with the beast. These are of one mind, and they will give their power and authority to the beast." (Revelation 17:12-13)

Both the Bible and New Age writers have revealed that there is a plan afoot to divide the world into ten “kingdom”, - Super-Nations that will eventually surrender their power to create a One World Government. That is the dream of the New World Order types. Now we’ve been following the steps that are preparing the way for the creation of a North American Union. Here’s some things that are happening elsewhere. Russia has just announced the formation of a rapid reaction force to challenge NATO’s. The force would be comprised of units from Armenia,¹⁸ Belarus, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Russia, Uzbekistan and Tajikistan. These coincidentally are the very nations that many prophecy scholars believe will comprise the Magog Alliance that Ezekiel 38 tells us will invade Israel in the Last Days. In addition, it again is these very countries that Mearovic and Pestel alluded to as Nation #5 in their 1974 New Age tome, Mankind At The Turning Point. This was to be one of the ten nations that are to comprise the New World Order. Kyrgyzstan, a member of the Russian alliance, has just announced that it was closing an American base there. According to an AP report, that closing will be a “serious challenge” to President Obama’s plan to send 30,000 additional American troops to Afghanistan.¹⁹

In Africa, another one of Mearovic and Pestel’s Super-Nation was taking steps toward fulfilling the Illuminati dream and Biblical prophecy. President Moammar Gadhafi of Libya assumed the chairmanship of the African Union in what has been described as “more of a coronation than a democratic transfer of power”. He immediately called for a single currency, a single passport, and a united army. He wants that union to be brought up for a vote by this coming July. They’re out to build what one African leader called, “the United States of Africa”.^{20 21} Libya is another nation that is mentioned as member of the Magog alliance by the prophet Ezekiel.

MASS CONDITIONING ?

The slide show being run by the UK Telegraph on its website starts with this cautionary warning: “The events portrayed in this slide show are entirely fictitious”. Which exactly begs the question, ‘Then what pray-tell is the point’. One can find it in the art / culture section but there is little about art about it. Joseph Watson in Prison Planet characterizes the slide show presentation as “a continuation of the incessant drone of fearmongering propaganda from the establishment media and authorities about the imminent inevitability of a mass casualty terror attack”.^{22 23} The story starts out on a fictitious June 20th with a fictitious warning from the British government about impending terror attacks. It then goes on to portray the terrorist nuking of six major metropolises including London and New York, and Washington which leads the Department of Homeland Security taking over the US. Eventually this results in a union between the United States, Canada, Mexico and Great Britain. The dollar is dropped for a brand new currency called the amero. Martial law and concentration camps become the order of the day. Watson believes that the message being sent is that a fascist world government is on its way. Attacks on China, Syria and Iran are part of the united Western response. At one point in the presentation, computer imaging of nuclear destruction gives way to comic-book-like drawings depicting Nazi-style camps with the superscription, “In our homeland we are moving against the many people that collaborated in these evil plots. They will be held in special containment facilities across the UNA (United North America). Many hundreds have already been apprehended and are currently in transit to these facilities”.^{24 25}

Finally, Watson asks the question, “...are we being prepared for something?”. And that’s a fair question. The last administration has begun talks with Mexico and Canada that could be seen as nothing short of a movement toward an eventual merger. Leaders in Canada and Mexico, including former Mexican President Vincente Fox have called for such a merger. An agreement among their militaries has paved the way for American and Canadian troops to operate in each others countries. A brigade of American combat troops has already been placed in-country to deal with domestic disturbances, - possibly due to the expected unrest that may follow an economic implosion.

THE ABORTION AGENDA

One could not help but conclude that the preservation and expansion of women’s rights to kill their babies is a cornerstone of the Obama administration. It took the President only days to start shelling out American taxpayer dollars for those poor unfortunate women who can’t afford to kill their babies in countries overseas. After all it was then State

Senator Obama who voted against legislation that would have protected infants who were 'born alive', - who had survived a late term abortion. As he explained, "What we are doing here is to create one more burden on a woman and I can't support that."²⁶ On the campaign trail, the President clearly stated his intentions to support the Freedom of Choice Act. Analysts believe that such legislation would once again open the door to partial birth abortions - (where the child's head is punctured and the brains sucked out before removing him entirely from the uterus), - as well as invalidating many state limits that have been put on abortion.²⁷ Obama's pick for Deputy Secretary of State, - James B Steinberg, - perhaps best describes the Administration's position. He stated that not allowing tax money to go for abortion, is "an unconstitutional limitation on free speech".²⁸ Numerous Scriptures see it differently. Psalm 22:10 says "from my mother's womb You have been my God". Luke 1:41 tells us "When Elizabeth heard Mary's greeting, the baby leaped in her womb, and Elizabeth was filled with the Holy Spirit". Now that's free speech!

The other end of this is showing up in something that sounds good on the surface; - stem cell research. [Aaaah, the compassion!] President Obama recently gave a "guarantee" to Congressional Democrats to overturn [evil, mean-spirited] Bush-era policy, - and provide federal funding for embryonic stem cell research. Now admittedly, embryonic stem cells are what is called pluripotent, - meaning capable of developing into various forms of human tissue. The problem is they also tend to form teratoma tumors that put the recipient at risk. Then there is the fact that the peer-reviewed Stem Cell Research reports that embryonic stem cells have not been proven to provide any therapeutic benefits for human subjects. The other stickier problem is that you have to take a life to get them. On the other hand, adult stem cells have produced positive therapeutic results in treating cancer, autoimmune disease, anemia, metabolic disorders, blood conditions and heart damage.²⁹ In effect harvesting embryonic stem cells is another form of abortion. As such it is a celebration of the values and will of mankind over those of the Creator.

Fr Thomas Euteneuer, the head of Human Life International, and an exorcist for the Catholic Church, puts this in spiritual perspective. "Abortion is a demonic industry ...is blood sacrifice of innocent blood to the devil. The clinics are like temples, the doctors are like priests, the medical table is like their altar. It's a ritualized sacrifice...Abortion is a spiritual evil."³⁰ Those may sound like crazy words, until we consider the testimony of some who should know. David Bay of Cutting Edge Ministries quotes former Illuminated Satanist Doc Marquis in his belief that "all abortions are sacrifices to Satan". And Satanic researcher Dr Rebecca Brown, states that "The craft doctors considered these I.U.D.-caused abortions to be sacrifices to Satan".^{31 32} It's true that there are many women that have been deluded by this hideous practice. But it certainly is not a matter of women's freedom, but rather of God's heart. The Bible records the practice of child sacrifice, often to the god Molech, as practiced by even the kings of Israel and Judah when they fell into pagan apostasy. The Geneva Study Bible tells of a giant hollow statue of Molech that contained chambers, one of which was designed to receive a child prepared for sacrifice.³³ Scripture equated such child sacrifice as akin to witchcraft, as revealed here in Deuteronomy 18:10. "There shall not be found among you anyone who makes his son or his daughter pass through the fire, or one who practices witchcraft, or a soothsayer, or one who interprets omens, or a sorcerer". And it is God's heart that must prevail here not our own. Because there is another association that we must make, because God makes it in 1Samuel 15:23. "For rebellion is as the sin of witchcraft, And stubbornness is as iniquity and idolatry". So on this issue or any other, - we don't get to make our own laws. Rebellion, - sin, - is putting ourselves on the throne. That is our witchcraft. And so knowingly or not, when the President, - or anyone puts their own agenda over the will of God, they are inviting God's judgment on themselves and on our land. Hosea 4:6 proclaims the reason for and scope of that judgment. "My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge. Because you have rejected knowledge, I also will reject you from being priest for Me; Because you have forgotten the law of your God, I also will forget your children."

-
- ¹ Stephen Dinan, CBO: Obama's stimulus harmful over long haul, Washington Times, February 4, 2009
 - ² How About Some Pork With That Stimulus Bill, Boom to Bust, January 30, 2009
 - ³ Obama Stimulus Package Breakdown, FOX News, January 26, 2009
 - ⁴ Stimulus contains rationed medicine, World Net Daily, February 9, 2009
 - ⁵ Washington's Trillion-Dollar Week, Forbes, February 8, 2009
 - ⁶ US Taxpayers Risk $9.7 Trillion on Bailouts as Senate Votes, Bloomberg, February 9, 2009
 - ⁷ Kadima wins, but rightist bloc biggest, The Jerusalem Post, February 10, 2009
 - ⁸ Steven Gutkin, Netanyahu, Livni declare win in Israeli election, AP, February 10, 2009
 - ⁹ Israeli government bargains away military success in Gaza, DEBKAFfile, February 8, 2009
 - ¹⁰ Kadima's lead over Likud shrinks to one place, spelling unstable government , DEBKAFfile, February 11, 2009
 - ¹¹ Iran's first spy satellite launch..., DEBKAFfile, February 3, 2009
 - ¹² Iran Has Nuclear Bomb, Says Top Russian General, Iran Press Service, June 6, 2002
 - ¹³ Iran, Russia Again Argue Over Nukes - Insight Magazine June 12, 2002
 - ¹⁴ Gaza naval blockade to be tested, Patriot Room, February 5, 2009
 - ¹⁵ Benjamin Weintal, How Europe's Companies Are Feeding Iran's Bomb, Wall Street Journal, February 5, 2009
 - ¹⁶ NATO says members may use Iran for Afghan supplies, AP, February 3, 2009
 - ¹⁷ Caroline Glick, Our World: Obama's new world order and Israel, Jerusalem Post, February 9, 2009
 - ¹⁸ CSTO's rapid-reaction force to equal NATO's – Medvedev, RNIA Novosti, February 4, 2009
 - ¹⁹ Kyrgyzstan: Decision to Shut Key US Base Is Final, FOX News, February 6, 2009
 - ²⁰ Gadhafi, as new African Union chairman will seek single state, Seattle Times, February 3, 2009
 - ²¹ African Union names Gaddafi as head, Al-Jazeera, February 2, 2009
 - ²² Blackjack: A slide show story, London Telegraph,
<http://www.telegraph.co.uk/culture/culturepicturegalleries/4220575/Blackjack.html?image=1>
 - ²³ Paul Joseph Watson, Bizarre and Offensive Online Gallery Fearmongers For Terror Attacks in London, NYC, Prison Planet, January 16, 2009
 - ²⁴ Paul Joseph Watson, Black Jack Part 2, Prison Planet, January 26, 2009
 - ²⁵ Paul Joseph Watson, Black Jack Part 3, Prison Planet, February 5, 2009
 - ²⁶ Amanda B Carpenter, Obama More Pro-Choice Than NARAL, Human Events, December 26, 2006
 - ²⁷ Dr David Reagan, War on Evangelical Christians Has Begun, Olive Tree Views, January 28, 2009
 - ²⁸ Obama pick: Taxpayers must fund abortions, World Net Daily, January 27, 2009
 - ²⁹ Obama to OK embryonic stem cell research, World Net Daily, February 10, 2009
 - ³⁰ John P Connolly, Exorcist: Devil Influences Abortion Industry, The Bulletin, February 3, 2009
 - ³¹ David Bay, News #1875, MMEA, Cutting Edge Ministries
 - ³² Dr Rebecca Brown, Becoming A Vessel of Honour in the Master's Service, Whitaker House, 1993, pg 106
 - ³³ The Geneva Study Bible, notes on Leviticus 18:21