50 WAYS TO LEAVE YOUR LOVER

“And I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bless thee, and make thy name great; and thou shalt be a blessing: And I will bless them that bless thee, and curse him that curseth thee: and in thee shall all families of the earth be blessed.” (Genesis 12:2-3) (KJV)

The United States has been Israel's closest ally ever since its modern inception in 1948. Now however that may be changing. There are strong signals emanating from within the Obama administration as well apparent in American policies already being played out, - that the US may be abandoning its ally; - the only true democracy in the Middle East. Not so, say you? Well just look at some of what's going on. The Jewish World Review recently ran an article detailing some of the signs of that seismic shift in American policy. Under President Obama the American interest in the establishment of a Palestinian State as the key to a Middle East peace is fast becoming an obsession. The President has filled key posts with operatives that have a record of antagonism to Israel. Some examples: Susan Rice at the UN, Fred Hof dealing with Syria, and Fred Mitchell who is to jump start the Middle East peace process. Mitchell's been described as a man “with an inability to distinguish between terrorists and victims”. And Samantha Power at the National Security Council even seemed to suggest the possible use of American troops in support of the Palestinian cause. Perhaps the most glaring example of the coming abandonment of Israel was Mr Obama's failed attempt to appoint Charles Freeman as Chairman of the National Intelligence Council. As recently as 2007, Freeman, - who was subsequently forced to withdraw, - cited “the brutal oppression of the Palestinians by an Israeli occupation”.<sup>1 2</sup> Even the liberal Washington Post opined on the “poor choice” of Freeman;- with his “sycophantic” obeisance to King “Abdullah the Great”, and his membership on the board of a government owned Chinese oil company working a multi-billion dollar deal with Iran.<sup>3 4</sup> Where's the balance in that appointment?

One veteran senior US intelligence official, retired just since the first of the year, paints a gloomy picture of the nature of US policy. Speaking to Doug Hageman of Northeast Intelligence, he describes how “critical intelligence” and expert analysis from the region would be given in good faith, - but then altered by policy makers in Washington. “The game is rigged; at the highest levels of power”, in both the US and Israel. It “has been molded and massaged to advance the agenda of a select few”. He gave the example of the Israeli withdrawal from Gush Katif in 2005. We knew that “in every possible manner imaginable that this would be a disastrous move leading to the events we are seeing today, it was done anyway”. Now he warns us to look for a complete abandonment of Israel: “Israel will soon be completely on their own...or worse”. He foresees a time when this administration will “undercut” Israeli defense efforts by providing increasing military and financial support to the Arab cause while pressuring Israel to accept a dismemberment; - a surrender of critical strategic territory in the name of an unenforceable peace. Why is this happening? “The “anti-Israel, pro-Islamist policy makers... have already infiltrated nearly all levels of the US government”. And he sees this all in the context of a general increase in worldwide anti-Semitism manifesting itself throughout the West as well as the world at large.<sup>5 6</sup>

So this begs the question: Just what is next on the horizon. To many the answer is a general Middle East war between Israel and her Arab neighbors. Hageman believes this will be set off by some sort of terrorist rocket attack with an Israeli response that escalates from there. This time however, the UN and even an Obama led US will come in on the side of the Palestinians, enforcing a peace and a 2-state solution. And all of this would serve “as the catalyst for the implementation of a new world order”.<sup>7</sup> A war in the near future, seems the very assessment of the incoming Netanyahu government in Israel. The presumptive Prime Minister has had trouble finalizing the make-up of his government. Right now he's only assured of 58 solid votes in the 120 member Knesset; - though with a few concessions he is likely to garner the 61 needed. This however would be a government beholden to the far right Israeli parties and would require him to take aggressive positions, especially with regard to the settlements. And that would put him further at odds with the Obama Administration. DEBKA however is reporting that he likely would settle for a short-term, interim government, and then call for early elections. He is concerned that Israel will face a “major military confrontation in the next few months”.<sup>8 9</sup> Such a war could come on many fronts or a combination of all. Iran, Hamas and Hezbollah are all candidates for the title of ‘Enemy in Chief’. The situation with Tehran is becoming of particular concern. Israel's Major General Yadlin told his nation that Iran had ‘crossed the technological threshold’ and gathered enough uranium to start making nuclear weapons.<sup>10</sup> At the same time, head of the US Joint Chiefs Admiral Mullen was concurring and US intel chief Blair was suggesting that Iran may have acquired a nuclear device from North Korea or the black market.<sup>11</sup> As reported here before, Iran's nuclear weaponry was confirmed by the Russian military and Stratfor Intelligence back in 2002.<sup>12</sup> Now a panel of Obama's advisors has told him that Iran has the material to produce 50 nuclear warheads and to do so in short order.<sup>13</sup>

What is most disturbing in all of this is the emerging position of America in all of this. The US has been blessed by its relationship with Israel. We've documented here before that 'strange' and 'coincidental' disasters have followed whenever US policy makers have put pressure on Israel to give away God's land that He entrusted to their care. As these last days progress, we are becoming increasingly taken with the notion dividing the Land and Jerusalem itself. This is all according to Scripture. The Prophet Zechariah warned clearly what would happen in the time of the end. God thus spoke: "Behold, I will make Jerusalem a cup of drunkenness to all the surrounding peoples, when they lay siege against Judah and Jerusalem. And it shall happen in that day that I will make Jerusalem a very heavy stone for all peoples; all who would heave it away will surely be cut in pieces, though all nations of the earth are gathered against it." (Zechariah 12: 2-3)

SCIENCE, FAITH & THE FUTURE OF THE CHURCH

"For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who suppress the truth in unrighteousness what may be known of God is manifest in them, for God has shown it to them. Professing to be wise, they became fools". (Romans 1:18-19, 22)

Lincoln freed the slaves, - (at least those living in areas still in rebellion), - and Obama has freed the scientists. 'Let there be research', he declared, as he opened the floodgates of federal taxpayer money to the scientists who would pursue the benefits, - (should they be found), - of what even the AP called "promising but still long range research" into embryonic stem cells. The President castigated his predecessor for creating a government which imposed a "false choice between sound science and moral values". Science should never serve a "political agenda", said he, and we must make "scientific decisions based on facts, not ideology".<sup>14</sup> And in Hollywood and the humble cottages of grant-starved scientists, flowers bloomed, birds sang, and virginal maidens danced with joy, just knowing that more human embryos would be sacrificed to the god of knowledge. [OK, there probably weren't any virginal maidens dancing in Hollywood.] The mainstream media also rejoiced and feted the all-wise 'Anointed One'; - in stark contrast to the strange silence that regularly accompanies the steady reports of the successes of adult stem cell therapy, - which require the sacrifice of no human embryos, - that is hidden away in medical journals and alternative news sources, - where only, 'he that seeks', shall find.

In February of this year, for example, - it was reported that treatment with adult cord blood stem cells resulted in significant improvements for 3 patients with muscular dystrophy, - with canes thrown away and one of them even able to roller skate.<sup>15</sup> [And of course that success was everywhere trumpeted by our balanced mainstream media...OK, I'm dreaming again.] An adult stem cell transplant for a German patient meant that he could now be taken off of HIV drugs after 10 years, - symptom free.<sup>16</sup> Another patient saw his Parkinson's Disease reversed with "motor skills improved by 80% for at least 36 months", as described by one medical journal.<sup>17</sup> In 2008 it was reported that cord blood stem cells (adult) were being used to successfully treat cardiovascular disease.<sup>18</sup> Here are the facts: Embryonic stem cells have had no major success and are plagued by two major problems; - they cause tumors and they can be rejected. On the other hand, even dating back to the early 2000's, adult cells were producing serious success stories including complete cures of Type I diabetes.<sup>19</sup> A report of the President's Council on Bioethics listed 73 areas where adult stem cells were being employed to treat diseases and conditions. These included 26 types of cancer including brain, ovarian and skin as well as auto-immune deficiencies, cardiovascular and ocular uses. The report listed no proven benefits for embryonic stem cells.<sup>20</sup> In fact recent breakthroughs in Britain and Canada indicates that adult stem cells have the potential to be transformed into any body tissue, - behaving like embryonic stem cells without risk of rejection or the ethical dilemma of destroying life.<sup>21</sup> The truth of the matter is that the President's statement about science and morals values is the "false choice" of which he speaks. Science cannot determine moral value. It can only describe what it finds. Moral choices are rooted in values that are impervious to science. Science can never determine what is right and wrong. Truth is not determined by human beings. Truth is. And the wise seek it. Thus we come to our next point.

THE STATE OF THE FAITH

"Now the Spirit expressly says that in latter times some will depart from the faith, giving heed to deceiving spirits and doctrines of demons". (1Timothy 4:1)

Michael Spencer, writing in the Christian Science Monitor, believes that we are on the edge of a seismic shift in the Christian faith. We will soon see “a major collapse of evangelical Christianity”; - in ten years or less. One reason, he says, - over-identification of the movement with cultural issues; ie gay marriage and pro-life causes as well as general political conservatism. To Spencer, these will increasingly be seen as “bad for America...bad for society”.<sup>22</sup> The signs are already visible of a cultural animus toward the Christian faith; - especially one that is defined by Biblical principles. One UN organization reporting on conditions in North America, Europe, Central Asia and the Caucasus, determined that there does indeed exist “the phenomenon of intolerance and discrimination against Christians”. (And those are not primarily Muslim areas.) The report described it as the “last socially acceptable prejudice in Europe”.<sup>23</sup> [Socially acceptable or not, anti-Semitism is also on the rise.] It is expressed in proliferating “radical secularization”, “political correctness” and “anti-discrimination laws”. In the US the Fairness Doctrine, - or some variant thereof, - threatens to shut off or severely limit conservative and Christian programming. The Illinois High School Association is trying to prevent even religious schools in the state from offering prayers over the public address system when they host inter-school events.<sup>24</sup> To these: God is just not hip!

It sounds crazy. But it kind of makes sense when you consider the results of a couple of surveys that came out this month. A headline in US News & World Report tells us “Those With No Religion Fastest-Growing Tradition”. That number is over 14% now, up from about 8% in 1990. Vermont is the leader with 34% claiming no religious affiliation.<sup>25</sup> Christianity as a whole dropped 11% during that same period. Baptists were down by about 4%. Catholic membership shrunk in New England and the Midwest. Mainline Protestant denominations; - such as Methodists, Lutherans, Episcopalians etc all suffered sharp declines in membership. Those describing themselves as non-denominational and evangelicals etc remained steady. But perhaps most disturbing: The pagan religions such as Wiccan or Spiritualist, have grown considerably and can now boast about 2.8 million members.<sup>26</sup>

Now, much of the decline could be the result from the flight from the principles of the faith exhibited in so many churches today. Jackson Senyonga, an architect of the incredible Ugandan revival that has seen an outpouring of faith and the Holy Spirit in that African country, - as well as the reduction AIDs rates from about 1/3 to single digits in a little more than a decade, - believes that the American Church began to fail when it ceased to pray – and believe. Just look at the findings of this survey of the clergy of mainline Protestant denominations. Two-thirds say that the Bible is not the inerrant word of God. Over half say that “sociopolitical action” is as important as evangelism. Therefore it becomes a short walk to get the position where a majority of these can support abortion, support same sex unions of some sort, and oppose the teaching of creationism “alongside evolution” in public schools.<sup>27</sup> The Faith of Our Fathers has little meaning for these. Theirs is a social gospel, where men sit in judgment of the veracity of the Scriptures. That is as dangerous as it is stupid!

This flight from faith has expressed itself as the cancerous growth called the ‘Emergent Church’. This is a rather amorphous entity all mystical and seeker friendly-like. It seeks ‘relevance’ rather than TRUTH; - is soft on doctrine and long on breath prayers, labyrinths, incense and yoga. It is a movement seeking not to proclaim the Truth of Christ, - but rather to, - in the words of the rock solid Jan Markell who seeks to unveil its deception, - “provide ‘meaning for this generation’”. One of its proponents, - Rob Bell, - advances the ‘feminine side of God’.<sup>28</sup> Says he: “We’re rediscovering Christianity as an Eastern religion, as a way of life”.<sup>29</sup> Markell sees the whole Emergent movement tying more into the New Age, Buddhism and Hinduism, - with all of that pagan baggage, - as opposed to the faith that Christ taught. It would then be a short walk from the growing number of pagan worshipers to the confines of a apostate church, compromised by similar heresies. These are the same people, who along with the squishy ‘mainline’ pastors, that will tell you that Jesus is NOT the exclusive way to the Father. And this is the direction that society is heading, - with the only value being the ‘truth’, - that all values are equal.

So we return to the musings of Michael Spencer who foresees an evangelical collapse. He believes that the culture will perceive the values of evangelicalism as inherently evil. It is happening already. The Scriptures do prophecy a falling away, a great apostasy, - a preference for “deceiving spirits” - an adoption of “doctrines of demons”. That is the legacy of the New Age and will be the guiding ethic of the Religion of Antichrist. The liberal faiths will meld together, approaching each other. Those that can embrace a system that denies the exclusive divinity and saving role of Christ will band together, - to their own destruction. “Who is a liar but he who denies that Jesus is the Christ? He is antichrist who denies the Father and the Son. Whoever denies the Son does not have the Father either; he who acknowledges the Son has the Father also.” (1John 2:22-23) The rightly-guided Christian remnant will need to cling to Biblical orthodoxy and authority. That remnant will be guided by the Holy Spirit, much as the Churches in Africa are so animated. “And it shall come to pass in the last days, saith God, I will pour out of my Spirit upon all flesh: and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, and your young men shall see visions, and your old men shall dream dreams”. (Acts 2:17) (KJV) Be encouraged! The time is coming!

GEARING UP FOR SOCIAL UNREST

This gets crazy by the day! A secret report delivered to police personnel in Missouri by the Missouri Information Analysis titled “The Modern Militia Movement” identifies supporters of Presidential candidates Ron Paul and Chuck Baldwin as ‘militia influenced terrorists’. As revealed in Info Wars, the report “instructs the Missouri police to be on the lookout for supporters displaying bumper stickers and other paraphernalia associated with the Constitutional, Campaign for Liberty, and Libertarian parties”. The report ignores a radical Muslim threat while concentrating on the “militia movement”.<sup>30</sup> [Since when is it illegal to be in favor of the Constitution and liberty?] The fact is however, that the armed forces in the US, in Canada and Britain are all gearing up for what they anticipate will be a severe period of civil unrest. The CIA and Britain’s MI5 are both monitoring their countries economic situations for signs that violence could break out. In the UK, the armed forces are actually on standby for a “summer of discontent”.<sup>31</sup> You see, there is in place, since at least 1984, a government plan called Operation Garden Plot, a document designed to deal with “civil disturbance control operations” within the US. It sets up the design for the American military to operate against American civilians in all sorts of circumstances of civil unrest. “Disruptive Elements” are defined in the order as “tax protesters, militia groups, religious cults, and general anti-government dissenters”. That’s a pretty broad brush. But here’s the most disturbing part. One section “provides for America’s military and the National Guard State Partnership Program to join with United Nations personnel in said operations”.<sup>32</sup>

In the face of these threats to security new proposals for increased government control over every facet of our existence are proliferating. The Obama administration seeks not only the reinstatement of the assault weapons ban but a massive registration campaign. The right for Americans to possess any sort of “working firearm” in their own homes is coming into question, - even for a “sporting purpose”.<sup>33</sup> Individual rights are fast disappearing. Meanwhile in the House Bill HR 875 sits in committee. If passed this legislation would so severely regulate farming in favor of big agriculture that it would make it nearly impossible for the little guy to exist. Provisions would require independent farmers to adapt factory farm methods, - especially in the use of chemical fertilizers and pesticides, - or face shutdown. This would be especially onerous to organic farmers and even those growing food for their own consumption.<sup>34</sup> The legislation was introduced by Democrat House member Rosa DeLauro of Connecticut, whose husband is a big wig at Monsanto, the agri-giant. Another bill, HR875 that would enforce national tracking of food products is being pushed by lobbyists from Monsanto again as well as those from Archer Daniel’s Midland and Tyson. Both of these twin pillars of pending legislation could have the effect of putting small farmers out of business. Monsanto’s stake in all of this is that it is that it is the largest producer of both genetically modified seeds and herbicides.<sup>35</sup> At the same time the President mulls the rescission of the “conscience rule” that now allows health care personnel to opt out of performing abortions and other procedures that do not conform with their “sincerely held religious convictions”.<sup>36</sup> Alas, we live in a brave new world!

The History Of The Future

If you want to make sense of the chaos that is today’s world, this is the book for you. If you want to understand where we’ve come from and get a glimpse of where we’re going, this is the place to start. The History of The Future ties it all together; From the old order of Babylon and Egypt to the New World Order and the New Age, from the Romans to the Vatican, the EU and the UN, the Federal Reserve and Islamic terror, from Babel to 9/11. Author Robert B Palaszewski weaves a narrative that lifts the veil on the mystery of history, in the process revealing God’s plan and the unerring accuracy of Biblical prophecy. Through it all we watch that prophetic plan unfold in today’s headlines. To grasp the world we live in you must understand The History of The Future.
