THEY KNEW NOT GOD – PART III

“Do not be deceived, God is not mocked; for whatever a man sows, that he will also reap.” (Galatians 6:7)

We ended last, by looking at how God dealt with a rebellious Israel; - a nation that had rejected both God and His laws in favor of pagan idols. Is America now going the same route?

A NATION IN REBELLION

There are many that would argue that America is a nation in decline. That is certainly true when it comes to cultural morality. Along with Europe, we've chosen the path of purposeful decline. In the 60's we officially banished God from our schools. He can neither be explicitly acknowledged nor implicitly recognized for His act of creation. [After all, everything there is, - is just the result of a great cosmic coincidence. But I digress.] In the ensuing years those same schools have become the agents of cultural change. Our children are being reoriented to reject the traditions on which our Western, Judeo-Christian culture was built. They are taught to reject patriotism in favor of a One World Government. And through all of this; tolerance reigns supreme. All ideas have become equal. We mustn't judge evil. After all: Who are we to say? Everything is relative. The result of all this – our moral compass is gone. And that in turn has fed the process of moral decay in the culture. And thus 'Morality', becomes what we say it is; - the perfect recipe for chaos.

But we should not be surprised. It didn't come out of nowhere. The deception was a long time coming. It arose out of the Social Darwinism, the movement that took hold in the wake of the growing popularity of the theory of evolution beginning in the latter half of the 19th century. The natural corollary of this line of thought is that Man exists – without purpose. If we are but the product of mindless, directionless forces, how could it be otherwise? This cancer began to spread throughout the culture. It became a planned agenda, for some. Here's what the history books no longer tell you. In the very beginning this country was founded on God. And not just some 'generic' higher-power, - but the God of the Bible. In the last installment we saw it in the documents that the first settlers drew up to govern themselves. But it remained the foundational ethic of the Founding Fathers and the generations that began this nation. Our first universities, Harvard and Yale and Columbia, - declared as their purpose the advancement of the faith in Jesus and the God of the Bible. Princeton declared, “Cursed is all learning that is contrary to the Cross of Christ.” Washington, the John & Samuel Adams, Jefferson, Noah Webster, Benjamin Rush, Governor Morris, Patrick Henry, - the founders of this nation, pronounced the belief that this the essential elements of this American experiment in democratic-republicanism would never work if it were not founded on both religion and morality. And not just any religion, but the worship of Jesus Christ as the Son of God!

In his farewell address, Washington said, “Religion and morals are indispensable.” To the first president, there was not national morality without religion. John Adams famously wrote “Our Constitution was made only for a moral and religious people. It is wholly inadequate to the government of any other.” The Founders understood that the rights of man come from God and not the state. Our entire legal system was built on this. The writings of William Blackstone, which served as the basis for all our laws, were infused with the notion that all authority came from the Law of God; - or as they termed then, - 'The Law of Nature'. The acceptance of the general principles of Christianity was a qualification for public office was in a requirement in most of the founding documents of the various states. But when the cancerous doctrines of Darwinism began to spread after the publication of The Origin of Species in 1859; - all of that changed.

In 1869 Charles Elliot became President of Harvard and he brought with him a firm commitment to evolution. It was Elliot's notion to promote Darwinism in all areas of the culture. His choice for head of the Law School, Christopher Langdon, was hotly contested as being unqualified. Further, Langdon stood the theory and practice of law on its head. Blackstone was relegated to the ash heap, as today's system based on Case Law was introduced. The Law became a 'living thing', evolving from the understanding of Man. It was no longer tied to God or His Law. What naturally flowed from all of this was something called 'Legal Positivism'. The State became the ultimate authority in the creation, interpretation and enforcement of law. The natural corollary of that is the notion that even morality is subject to the whim of government and mob rule. We bear its fruit today!¹

By the 1960's it had taken hold as the Death of God Movement in some influential theological circles in the US. That line of thought can be traced back to Nietzsche, the German philosopher who did much to pave the way for not only this existentialist sinkhole, but whose writings also laid the intellectual ground stone for the murderous Nazi movement. Here is how Nietzsche presented it in his work, The Gay Science. "God is dead. God remains dead. And we have killed him.Is not the greatness of this deed too great for us? Must we ourselves not become gods simply to appear worthy of it?"² By 1965 Time Magazine was quoting American Methodist theologian JJ Altizer, a self-proclaimed atheist, who was teaching at the Methodist, Emory University in Atlanta. The purpose of the American movement was to 'redefine' Christianity as a religion without a Creator. Here's a quote from the Time article. "The death-of-God theologians do not argue merely that Christianity's traditional "image" of the Creator is obsolete. They say that it is no longer possible to think about or believe in a transcendent God who acts in human history, and that Christianity will have to survive, if at all, without him."³ The Sixties continued to deal critical blows to the dominant Judeo-Christian based culture. It brought the Beatles with their Eastern mysticism and gave birth to the drug culture. Sex, drugs and Rock-n-Roll, became the mantra for a generation, as the popular music forms drifted more into the Satanic. It brought too, the Sexual Revolution & Free Love Movements, which separated the sexual act from any commitment to family or society. The divorce rose to dizzying heights, - which along with a growing tolerance of out of wedlock births, begat fatherlessness. Fatherlessness in turn produced an almost vertical rise in poverty and abuse while giving birth to a generation that was geometrically more apt to use drugs, drop out, abuse alcohol, commit crimes and produce the next self-perpetuating generation of fatherless children. That is the price of the false freedom that we are still paying today!

Our culture had lost the knowledge of God. Look at today. This moral lost-ness is reflected in the culture; - in our TV offerings, and flawed sports /music / movie idols. It is visible in the Emergent Church movement and the 'Cafeteria Spirituality' that so many have adopted. Christian pollster Barna calls these "hybrid faiths". About 71% now say that they will "develop their own set of religious beliefs". Truth no longer comes from a transcendent - moral - Law Giver. Instead it is ginned up from within; - our own personal preference, if you will.⁴ And once the foundation of our culture, Biblical-Christianity has now come to be the butt of jokes and disdain by the popular media. Thus God's Law is set aside...often within the Church; - and with it the prohibitions on homosexuality, and abortion and God's plan for the family. Find something you object to in the Word and you will be able to find some sect of Christianity that will put its stamp of approval on your objection. And in place of God ordered TRUTH, comes a creeping Universalism. 'It's all good, man!' 2Timothy 3:3-4 tells us, "the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine, but according to their own desires, because they have itching ears, they will heap up for themselves teachers; and they will turn their ears away from the truth, and be turned aside to fables.” These are among the fables of our day, and they are producing a generation that knows not God.

What that is creating is an engulfing moral chaos. We are both lost...and ignorant of the fact that we are lost. It is the direct result of our rejection of God's Word. When Israel fell in the same way, judgment always followed. Metaphorically: We have murdered God, and now we deign to sit on His throne. Here are words of warning from the Prophet Amos. “Behold, the days come, saith the Lord GOD, that I will send a famine in the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the words of the LORD: And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the north even to the east, they shall run to and fro to seek the word of the LORD, and shall not find it.” (Amos 8:11-12)

ANATOMY OF TERROR

Of what does a successful ‘terror event’ consist? Do hundreds, - dozens – have to be slaughtered? Does there have to be any loss of life at all? Or is it enough to create ‘terror’ in the hearts of and minds of a population, - cause them to cry for “peace and security” and open up the opportunity for yet greater government control of the population?

On Christmas Day, one of the holiest on the Christian calendar, Abdul Farouk Abdul-Mutallab, a Nigerian, boarded a flight in Lagos intent on blowing up Delta-Northwest flight 253 over Detroit. As the plane was preparing to make its final approach, Mutallab managed to light a fuse, concealed in his underwear [yikes]. However the device malfunctioned,, giving off, what one source told Doug Hagmann of Northeast intelligence, as a “relatively small popping noise heard throughout the cabin that amounted to what some described as a firecracker”. Both passengers and crew then immediately subdued the would-be bomber. He suffered 2nd and 3rd degree burns in the attempt.⁵

Almost immediately reports began to surface that pointed to something terribly gone wrong. Our buddy Abdul had managed to board the planes despite being on a ‘terror watch list’. In fact he was allowed to board an international flight without a passport. Witnesses report that the poor looking Mutallab was accompanied in Amsterdam – where the final flight originated - by an expensively dressed “Indian man” who was overheard to have used his ‘influence’ to secure the terrorist’s passage, by asking if he could fly without a passport, as he was a Sudanese refugee seeking safety. Further, the suspect’s father had contacted American intelligence officials a month before, to warn that his son was becoming radicalized and dangerous.⁶ In addition, reports surfaced that he was using high-grade military explosives, suggesting collusion with ‘connected’ sources.⁷ And almost immediately after the attack, it was revealed that the Nigerian had given details of his ties to a terror network operating from ‘terror camps’ in Yemen, that the British Sun described as “ready and willing to strike”.⁸

Analyzing the entire incident for Infowars, Alan Dykes came to the conclusion that “Eyewitness testimony pointing to a man helping the accused terrorist board without a passport, along with an unusual cameraman documenting the attempted attack on board the plane raise more than red flags– they point towards an intelligence operation, run as a drill, meant to conjure up public support for a number of fronts in the continuing ‘War on Terror.’” He points out that the renewed terror events are taking place just as the terror war is heating up in a new location; - Yemen.⁹ It was reported on that on Christmas Eve, American drones killed 30 Yemenis, including two ‘high ranking’ al-Qaeda operatives.¹⁰ This latest attack has put an interesting apostrophe on a quietly chaotic year for domestic terror. Earlier in the year there was the murder of an Army recruiter in Little Rock, and just in November we had the Fort Hood Massacre. In multiple incidents, seven young men were taken into custody as they tried to join Afghani and Pakistani jihadist movements. And now adding to the confusion, David Headly, has been implicated in the Mumbai, India attack of 2008 that killed over 160. He may have been working as a double agent for the CIA at the time.^{11 12}

Now some – like Alan Dykes – suggest that there is something more at work here. They’ve reviewed the evidence of the latest incidents as well as the circumstances surrounding the Sears Tower plot, the “Transatlantic liquid bomb plot, etc and see a pattern. To Dykes, that pattern suggests “deliberately-provoked terror incidents to frighten us to death, invade our privacy, erode our liberties, restrict our travel and perpetuate an ever-expanding string of wars.”¹³ In any case increased government control has been the immediate result, with increased and often ridiculous security measures being foisted on the public in both the US and Europe. And if we listen to what the Illuminati folks have told us in their published material, increased terror, - in the US and Europe – has been part of the plan for decades. What plan? That would be the plan to set up the World Government, as revealed in the Armageddon Script published nearly 30 years ago, now. The idea is this: A series of very specific wars – (in the Middle East, the Korean Peninsula, Taiwan) – as well as terrorism, economic collapse, and an announcement of alien contact, - would drive people to accept a global strongman and the unification of the entire planet under Illuminati control. Sounds crazy! But it made the New York Time’s Best Seller’s List back in the 1980’s.¹⁴ So the terror, successful or not, is achieving that end. As Sean Osborne of Northeast Intelligence insists, this latest incident was not a “failed” attempt. “It was as successful as all the previous Islamic terrorist attacks have been on our commercial airliners ... irregardless of whether or not the physical destruction of the aircraft occurred and human lives [were] lost. We cannot deny that the objective of terrorizing us was unachieved.” Osborne quotes the Quran to make his point. “Let not those who disbelieve think that they can get away with it; they can never escape. You shall prepare for them all the power you can muster, and all the equipment you can mobilize, that you may terrorize the enemies of Allah.”¹⁵¹⁶ And thus the goals of those that would enslave us – both radical Islamists and their ‘stealth handlers’, the Illuminati - are steadily being achieved.

ET TU, BIBI ?

The Israeli paper Haaretz is reporting that Israeli Prime Minister Benyamin (Bibi) Netanyahu is trying to expand his coalition by adding Kadima leader Livni and others in the wake of what may be a political tsunami that would follow his intentions to base a peace with the Palestinians on the 1967 borders. As Haaretz puts it: “Netanyahu is not trying to enlarge his government because a new war is threatening Israel's citizens. Rather, he is scared the peace process will threaten the wholeness of his government. He needs Kadima to fill the ranks that will empty in the wake of the departure of his partners from Yisrael Beiteinu and the National Union, and perhaps also some members of the Likud.”¹⁷ A return to the pre-’67 borders is the only thing that will satisfy the Quartet – (the UN, the EU, Russia and the US). It will not, however satisfy the Palestinians. It is in fact, a recipe for conflict, - and a fulfillment of the Illuminati scheme. The Palestinians have made it plain that a return to the pre-Six Day War status quo will only be the starting point for what they view as the final war against Israel. To their dismay, it may very well be that. However, it will not turn out the way they plan. The Scriptures tell of a coming war that will devastate the surrounding Arab lands, result in the total destruction of Damascus, [nukes perhaps] – and result in the annihilation of the Palestinian population. “The house of Jacob shall be a fire, And the house of Joseph a flame; But the house of Esau shall be stubble; They shall kindle them and devour them, And no survivor shall remain of the house of Esau, For the LORD has spoken.” (Obadiah 1:18)
